Nissan VR38-GTR 6.496" Connecting Rods Details

When engine output is increased, the demands placed on the connecting rod increase as well. To ensure engine reliability in all conditions, original connecting rods should be replaced with heavy duty specification parts. Nissan VR38-GTR 6.496" connecting rods are manufactured from high strength 4340 (EN24) steel and machined to precise tolerances. Detailed machined work to maintain optimum weight and strength. All GT-R VR38 forged conrods are fully machined, heat treated, stress relieved, properly shot peened, and will be checked by 3/8" ARP 2000 bolts.

Set of six matched rods Nissan VR38DETT fits for all 2009+ Nissan R35 GT-R cars.
